Between Research, Politics and Public Opinion, Madrid

Den 3-9 juli deltog Nationella sekretariatet för genusforskning i Women's Worlds 2008, på Universidad Complutense i Madrid, den tionde interdisciplinära konferensen om kvinnor.

Vi höll, tillsammans med NIKK, Nordiska institutet för kunskap om kön, och det nordiska nätverket NING ett föredrag med titeln Between Research, Politics and Public Opinion – the Case of Gender Research Communication.

Föredragsbeskrivning

Between research, politics and public opinion - the case of gender research communication

As part of their political efforts to reach a gender equal society most Nordic countries have established information and documentations centres that communicate gender research to a public field of politicians, authorities, NGOs, activists, mainstream media, etc. This session will discuss the particular challenges for research communication in a contested field and will thus be of interest to those working in the intersection of research, politics and public opinion.

Presentations by

- Rikke Randorff Hegnhøj and Jennie Westlund, NIKK - Nordic Institute for Gender Research, Norway
- Inga-Bodil Hermansson, Swedish Secretariat for Gender Research
- Annukka Jamisto, Minna - Web Portal for Women's Studies and Gender Equality in Finland
- Maria Zackariasson, Kilden - Information Centre for Gender Research in Norway
- Anita Frank Goth, Kvinfo - Denmark's Centre for Information on Women and Gender

Organised by Rikke Randorff Hegnhøj, NIKK - Nordic Institute for Gender Research, Norway

Arkiv: Nationella sekretariatet för genusforskning, 2008